

Creating your own potato chips: cooking

Procedural text:

A procedural text is a piece of writing that explains how to do something. You are going to write a procedural text about cooking potato chips. Think about the steps that you needed to take to produce your hot chips.

Include information such as:

- How to cut and season the chips
- Instructions about the oven temperature and how long the chips need to be in the oven
- Any other actions, such as turning the chips or allowing them to cool.

| rod carrase triis space to write your procedure |  |  |  |  |  |
|-------------------------------------------------|--|--|--|--|--|
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |
|                                                 |  |  |  |  |  |

Creating your own potato chips: cooking

Review your dish:

Imagine that you are a food reviewer. A reviewer is someone who writes articles about food and if it was good or not. What was the taste, the texture of the food and the presentation on the plate?

Reviewers often give the food a star rating.

| Review Title: | Star rating: | W W | WW. | W |
|---------------|------------------|-----|-----|---|
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |
|               |                  |     |     |   |

